

Covington seeks to hire first-year law students with an interest in Life Sciences Licensing and Collaborations Transactions to join our ten-week Summer Associate Program in our DC office. Students will be given the opportunity to work with our lawyers on a broad and exciting range of transactional matters in the life sciences industry.

Overview

Recognized as a global leader in strategic transactions, Covington advises on many of the industry's largest and most innovative life sciences transactions year after year. We leverage extensive cross-border experience and a deep understanding of industry-specific regulatory, IP, and commercial considerations to craft comprehensive, practical, and forward-looking solutions across the full range of strategic and commercial transactions.

Our Corporate Practice is consistently recognized for excellence and our Life Sciences Industry Group is ranked in the top tier for transactional, regulatory, IP, and litigation capabilities around the world. Our life sciences transactional practice integrates these industry leading capabilities to meet the specialized needs of life sciences companies.

We invite law students with a sincere interest in life sciences and technology to join Covington as 1L Life Sciences Summers. The ideal candidate has a long-term interest in working on life sciences transactional matters upon graduation.

How to Apply

The application deadline is January 17, 2025. To apply, please submit a cover letter indicating you are applying for the 1L Life Sciences Transactional Summer Program, resume, undergraduate and law school transcripts, legal writing sample, and list of references (including a faculty reference) to Grace Seery, Senior Manager of Legal Recruiting, at legal.recruiting@cov.com.

Please submit your law school transcript by January 24, 2025 in order to complete your application if not yet available.
